

Pooja Patel

Lyric Poem – The Ocean

Calming blue waves

Thunder against the gleaming sand

The sun's rays illuminate the sand

And the sky's bright hue smothers the ocean

The colors contrast

A raging battle ensues

Between

The cool azure waves

Made of God's tears

Of both joy

And sorrow

And the scorching golden sand

Is smooth with passion

Whereas the water is fluid with indifference

Both are something you can hold

Yet they still slip through your hand